General Comment

Several panel members passed a question to the panel down the line as the sat taking turns answering the acceptable questions. Chuckling, eye rolling and Scoffing ended with the items eventual disappearance leading several in attendance wondering if it were their own question to the panel. I asume that to have been part of the process of screening questions. On leaving the Plether Center, I heard various comments concerning the 'strong armed' sense of empowerment on the part of our Federal public servants. I was saddened that there was no apparent appreciation for the time and commitment to participate on the part of the bul;k of attendees.....trying to beat the little timeout clock..... sorry no time for spell check.
